SPEECH-LANGUAGE PATHOLOGIST (LECTURER) POSITION IN COMMUNICATION SCIENCES AND DISORDERS

The Roxelyn and Richard Pepper Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Northwestern University is searching for an academic faculty member in speech-language pathology. The successful applicant will hold a position of Lecturer (non-tenure line) and will be responsible for teaching clinical courses, facilitating connections between class and clinic, providing programmatic support to students, and supporting the research and educational missions of the Department’s Center for Audiology, Speech, Language, and Learning and the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders.

This exciting opportunity coincides with other major developments in the MS SLL program, including a new, innovative program curriculum, development of a state-of-the-art simulation lab, continued growth within our exceptional clinic, and continued development of new programmatic offerings. Northwestern University’s Roxelyn and Richard Pepper Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders is a leader in clinical service, science, and research, and our intention is to recruit individuals committed to developing the next generation of exemplary speech language pathologists.

Employment term: An 11-month appointment beginning September 1, 2016. The appointment may be renewed on an annual basis.

Qualifications:
1. Earned Master’s or Ph.D. in Speech-Language Pathology
2. Eligibility for Illinois SLP licensure
3. ASHA Certificate of Clinical Competence
4. Substantial experience in clinical service provision across a variety of settings

Duties:
- Provide exceptional, evidence-based instruction in clinical coursework.
- Assist in student advising and other activities related to student development.
- Develop the professional and clinical skills of graduate students via connections between class and clinic.

Salary: Commensurate with experience.

Application procedure: Send cover letter describing your teaching, research, and clinical interests and experience, a current vita (including e-mail address), and three letters of recommendation to the Search Committee Chair, Stacy Kaplan. Mail to: CSD Lecturer Position Search, Center for Audiology, Speech, Language and Learning, Northwestern University, 2315...
Campus Dr., Evanston, IL, 60208. Forward questions to Stacy Kaplan, MS SLL Program Director at: stacy.kaplan@northwestern.edu. For more information about the MS SLL program and Department, please visit: http://www.communication.northwestern.edu/programs/ms_speech_language_learning/.

The University: Northwestern University is one of the nation’s largest private research universities. The main campus is located in Evanston and the medical campus is located 12 miles south in Chicago. Both campuses are located on the shore of Lake Michigan. There is continuing expansion of University facilities and programs, particularly in the sciences and medicine. Diverse cultural, social, and recreational activities abound on and near each campus.

Closing Date: Ongoing until position is filled. Review of applications will begin immediately. Northwestern University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.