FULL-TIME LECTURER POSITION IN SCREENWRITING

Northwestern University

Academic Search Number: 32258

The Department of Radio/Television/Film at Northwestern University's School of Communication is seeking a full-time lecturer in screenwriting.

The ideal candidate will be a member of the Writers Guild of America, have an MFA, teaching experience, and produced credits/commissions.

Experience as a television writer, playwright, director or performer is also desirable. The position involves teaching undergraduate courses, as well as courses in our interdisciplinary MFA in Writing for the Screen + Stage (https://communication.northwestern.edu/programs/mfa_writing_screen_stage/welcome). We’re particularly interested in writers who tell the stories of underrepresented populations, communities, or groups.

Appointment starts Sept 1, 2018 for a one-year term, with the possibility of renewal. Candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, and teaching evaluations (if available) or evidence of good teaching to the Faculty Recruiting System located at the following link:

https://facultyrecruiting.northwestern.edu/apply/NTQ=

For questions or nominations, please contact write@northwestern.edu

For fullest consideration, applicants should submit materials by January 5th, 2018 but review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Northwestern University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action educator and employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.